

Incubators in different variations

The procedure of inhibitor tests for milk analysis is one of the essential process steps for the quality assurance in the dairying. Test laboratories and farmers use the efficient quick test for their analysis to evaluate the today's high safety standards in this industry.

The operating mode of this heating instrument embraces the constant tempering and incubation of the several milk test producers. The Aerne Analytic incubators are equipped with aluminium heating units and an analogue/ digital temperature control.