

The Aerne Analytic range of products includes a numerous of racks, stands and benches with a lot of fields of application: storage of butyrometer containers, test tubes, funnels to the point of gabion cages or depositions. The racks and stands are produced by PVC or polypropylene and can besides a standard range also be ordered in customised special models. The laboratory benches are made of polypropylene and an anodised aluminium frame. They are equipped with guide rollers with a rubber lining and a locking brake.